

10. Wotton-under-Edge

As rich farmland gives way to woodland tracks and rolling parkland, this enchanting walk leads you from scarp top to valley bottom, back into one of the Cotswold's most charming and thriving small towns. With spectacular views, intriguing shops and historic architecture, all tastes will find something wonderful in this special little corner of the Cotswolds...

Distance:

5 miles or 8 km (6½ or 10.4km with detour to Newark Park).

Duration:

3 - 4 hours (4 - 5 with detour)

Difficulty:

Moderate - Stiles and steep sections.

Public transport:

Numerous bus services from various towns.

(Visit www.travelinesw.com).

Start/Finish:

Grid reference ST 755/932

(OS Explorer sheet 167)

Postcode GL12 7DB

Refreshments:

Numerous pubs and cafés in Wotton-under-Edge town centre.

Parking

There are three car parks in Wotton-under-Edge, situated at: Chipping car park GL12 7AD, Civic Centre GL12 7DN, and Potters Pond GL12 7HF

1 Begin the walk underneath the Jubilee Clock on the corner of High Street and Market Street. Head down Market Street passing the heritage centre and tourist information point on your left, and cross the car park towards the far left corner. Follow the alleyway to the right of the church and cross the road to head up the path opposite towards the school. Continue up the wide grassy path, through the kissing gate at the end. Carry on across the middle of the field towards the gap in the hedge and head down across the next little field, crossing over the stile in the bottom right corner. Keeping the hedge on your left, continue round towards the farmhouse.

2 Turn immediately left after the stile at the bottom, and take the path over the little stream. Pass through the gate on the far side of the next field, and head towards another farmhouse. Continue around the left of the house and pass through the wide gate on your right, to turn left up the access track towards the road. At the T-junction, cross over the stile opposite and follow the path along the edge of the fields. Halfway across the last field follow the path to your right, diagonally through the field. After the stile next to the gate at the far corner, take the path to the left and head towards the gates at the far side.

3 Keeping a good ear out for traffic, cross the road and take the footpath towards Ozleworth. Head toward the gap in the hedge and over another field towards a stile at the far end. Turn immediately left after the next stile, and head left across the field to pick up the Cotswold Way at the far corner. Head through the kissing gate, and cross the road to follow the Cotswold Way towards Wotton-under-Edge. Before the wide gate at the end, pass through the kissing gate on your right and follow the steep-sided gully uphill. At the top, take the path up to the right and continue to follow the Cotswold Way along a shaded woodland track. After about half a mile, look out for the waymarker on your left and take the path down through the woods. Pass through the kissing gate at the bottom and continue around the side of the hill as breathtaking views begin to open up to your left. Follow the Cotswold Way as it rejoins the track, and continue for half a mile until you reach the road.

4 For a short detour into tranquil parkland and a wonderful Tudor hunting Lodge, follow the sign to Newark Park past the access road and through the kissing gate on the right. Continue around the edge of the field and switch back through two gates towards an information board in the woods. From here you can follow any of three excellent waymarked trails through this picturesque estate owned and managed by the National Trust.

To continue the walk, turn left down the road and continue past half a mile of wonderful valley views until you reach another fingerpost on the right. Watching your footing after wet weather, follow the Cotswold Way down the steep path and turn right when you meet the road at the bottom.

5 After a short distance, pass through a gate on your left and continue to follow the trail alongside a small stream and through the outskirts of the town. When you reach the 13th century parish church, pass through the tranquillity of its grounds and follow the signs back towards the High Street. With curious shops for browsing, ancient buildings for wondering and inviting cafes for refreshing, welcoming Wotton has everything you could need at the end your walk, and even more to entice you back...

Points of Interest

St Mary's The Virgin

is one of six churches in Wotton-under-Edge, it was consecrated in 1283 by Bishop Godfrey Giffard of Winchester. The current church dates from 1325 and was enlarged in 1838.

The churchyard lies mostly north and west of the substantial building, including a small cremation area to the south-west. The parish registers date from 1571.

Within St Mary's lie the tombs of Lord Thomas IV and Lady Berkeley. Lord Thomas was the Admiral of the King's Fleet and fought in the battle of Agincourt. The brasses over their tombs date from 1392 and are the second oldest in Gloucestershire.

The church is perhaps best known for its large organ. Positioned in the south-east corner of the church, adjacent to the altar; it is one of the biggest organs in the county and is famed for having been played by Georg Handel when in its previous location of St Martin in the Fields.

The Cotswold Way National Trail is managed and maintained by Cotswolds National Landscape and the Cotswolds Voluntary Wardens
www.cotswoldsaonb.org.uk

Photo credits: St Mary The Virgin (c) Jo Siobhan Bromley, 2021